Volume 411 No.20 May 25, 2011
by Darrell Blatchley - Missionary to Asia's Little Ones
"Wolves In Town"

Hello again, friends,

[I write this knowing that some will misunderstand my heart and this message. For any misunderstanding or pain I cause, in advance I apologize. It is our heart to minister to the lost in love.

God loves the sinner he does not love the sin. The attached pictures of the youth does not necessarily reflect his sexual preference but they likely reflect his hearts allegiance.]

Today I've seen full grown rats playing and running around in our garden. Now that just irks me, because we put a lot of TLC into the garden, and they are not invited to dinner. These rats are of the size that most cats look at them out of the corner of their eye, and the cats walk right by the rats, not understanding that cats have a biological duty as hunters to attack and get rid of the rats. If the cats could speak, they'd likely tell me, "Give me a mouse any day!"

Now if a rat can irritate me, imagine how we feel when we hear of a pastor excited about cell groups for his church and putting his time and efforts into really teaching the adults. BUT when we ask what they are doing with their kids, they proudly answer, "We have Sunday School for them, and we have Vacation Bible School every year." Upon closer look, we saw the children being taught their Bible lessons by a group of young men (all gay). After asking the pastor why he would use them as his Sunday School teachers, he replied, "They have good hearts."

Now why do I see something wrong with this picture? Sure the rats in our garden are hungry, but that doesn't mean I'm going to do like the cats and look at them out of the corner of my eye. In fact what we do is we prepare food for them, then we put the food in a small box we call their "hotel", and we place the hotel unattended by the areas we see the rats playing in. Then we go back later, and if the rats enjoyed and ate all the food, we put more out.

Eventually the rats will trigger the trap in the "rat hotel," and then they will be provided with an invitation to possibly go scuba diving for FREE!*

*We supply the water, but no air.

That's reality. Rats playing in our garden are uninvited guests. We do not allow uninvited guests to play indiscriminately with the children God put into our care. Do they have good hearts? That's not my call. In following Scripture, it warns of wolves coming into the flock wearing sheep clothing. I figure we'd better be aware that there are people who may come to church who do not have the best interest of our children and we as shepherds are to guard our flock. Trust me, the Bible is correct; there are wolves in town, and they are coming to church...Just make sure they aren't feeding on your lambs, or the Master Shepherd is going to be very angry.*

And don't tell me you are looking for the mice to tackle, while you ignore the wolves.

Now we've seen these young men come in and try touching our kids in an inappropriate manner, and we don't wink and say, "Isn't that cute?" Nope, we get in their faces and invite them politely to leave. Sorry; they are not invited. Am I saying we don't care for their souls? No, but we are not sacrificing our kids to their twisted lifestyle. Period.

Check it out in His operations manual if you don't know that what I'm saying is true.

PS *"It has been our experience, that many homosexuals who have come to Family Circus and attempted to become involved with our children before they have experienced the life changing power of Christ, have dark hidden agendas. We have seen them publicly demonstrating lewd actions one to another. We know that, until these individuals allow the Lord God to truly remake and mold them, they cannot change their behavior and they are an imminent danger to our children."

We have seen the lives of homosexual young people change as they respond to the message of Christ. They prayed and received prayer and almost every practicing homosexual we have worked with whose life was transformed had demons manifesting and were delivered from the demons and then their lives were transformed. We are talking real powers of darkness and spiritual warfare. Demonic presence and supernatural powers, multiple voices, and other descriptions that demonstrate this is no ordinary battle. This is the reality these young people were living in. Many of them were molested as children... which opened the door for the evil spirits to enter.

We live in a modern media world. Television portrays homosexuals as just people having made different choices in their lives. And many who read this email may have never actually met an openly homosexual person. They may believe the lies being told. They may not see homosexuals as "wolves".

The church has spent much time in hating homosexuals rather than reaching out to them in love. But that love must not deny the darkness of the homosexual lifestyle. We know the reality is different than television. Many homosexuals live with a gnawing and powerful drive which results in an agenda over which they have little control. The story of Lot in the Bible reveals that giving one's self over to homosexuality opens the doors to unbelievable levels of demonic power. Can we imagine a parade of violent people shouting outside our homes for the "right" to molest, rape, and even kill our house guests?

Because homosexuality has to do with the most intimate of human relationships, these drives have enormous potential for evil, ruin, and destruction.
